

Since the invasion of Ukraine, the French defence industry has seen increased orders and has stepped up production, however, it is coming up against supply constraints

Currently being translated . ●